What's an eCode?

It's your unique Internet User ID.

Your eCode is the only ID you need to manage all of your contact information on the World Wide Web.

You can share your eCode with friends and colleagues just as you would a business card. The difference with an eCode is that you no longer have to tolerate updating your address book or losing contact information - the information associated with an eCode will always be current. As an eCode user, you have access to a multitude of products that will greatly enhance your Internet experience.
